Mrs. A. B. Spanjaard Tells Concentration Camp Experiences to 100 People

After hearing Mrs. Alfred B. Spanjaard's talk on atrocities in German concentration camps, and listening to her plea to American Jewry to aid their homeless, suffering brethren in Europe, a gathering of approximately 100 attending a supper last night in Agudas Achaim synagogue contributed $45,000 to the United Jewish Appeal.

Hugo Wessler, chairman of the appeal in Kingston, presided over the meeting, assisted by Joseph Levine of the Kingston News Service, N. B. Gross, local realtor; Ben Silverman, insurance executive; H. G. Rafalowsky, midtown clothier; Dr. Saul Goldfarb; Joseph Honig, manufacturer; Attorney Abraham Streifer and Alfred D. Ronder, president of the congregation. Rabbi H. I. Bloom of Temple Emanuel offered the invocation.

Mrs. Spanjaard, who spent two years in a concentration camp under "The Beast of Belsen", Joseph Kramer, and Irma Gress, notorious woman sadist, told her audience, in urging them to support the U. J. A., "This is a human duty."

Having regained her health in America, Mrs. Spanjaard is touring the United States telling her personal experiences and observations to Jewish and non-Jewish groups interested in relieving suffering and hardships in Europe.

Socialist Party Appears Routed in Berlin; Continent-Wide Significance Anticipated

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

Berlin, Oct. 21 (AP)—The Soviet-backed Socialist Unity Party (S.E.D.) appeared today to have been routed in Berlin's first free municipal election in 14 years, which a N.A.M.G. official termed of continent-wide significance in the issue between eastern and western political philosophies.

Virtually complete returns from yesterday's election of municipal and borough councilmen showed the S.E.D. running a poor third in a field of four parties.

Alderman-at-Large Uses Figures to Support Claim Funds Not to Blame

Alderman-at-Large John J. Schwenk today took exception, by using a few figures, to Chief of Police Ernest Boss's statement last week that a lack of funds is responsible for Kingston's inadequate police protection during nightly patrols.

Schwenk laid the matter entirely in the lap of the Board of Police Commissioners, of which Mayor William F. Edelmuth is president. Members of the board are his appointees.

Chief Boss said in an interview that only three patrolmen are on foot duty nightly, with two other men riding in a radio prowl car. Schwenk points out that the police department this year has $8,284 more on which to operate than it had in 1945.

The 1946 city budget, basis of a taxpayers' rebellion, was declared illegal by court order, since it violated the 2 per cent tax limitation on municipalities. A new fiscal schedule was drawn by Mayor Edelmuth, and this was adopted.

The police board was also cited last week for not filling vacancies which exist on the police force.

In his statement Alderman-at-Large Schwenk says:

"A news article appeared in last Friday's Freeman which showed the great impairment of police protection recently put into effect by the city administration. This article stated that this inadequate police protection is made necessary because of the taxpayers' action on this year's budget which resulted in a reduced appropriation for the police department."

"From an analysis of the funds available to operate the police department this year, including about $4,000 for salary increases restored to the members of the police department by a court order and paid from the proceeds of notes borrowed from the bank, you will find that the police department has available."

only, was heavy and orderly.

There were 2,349,722 eligible voters. By 10:30 a. m. (4:30 a. m. (E.S.T.)), 1,945,938 valid votes had been tabulated. Void ballots then numbered 37,272.

Before the election, Lt. Col. Louis Glaser, political affairs chief of the United States Military Government's Berlin branch, said the issue clearly lay between eastern and western political philosophies.

"Germany must ultimately make a decision in this respect," he said. "The Berlin vote, establishing such a decision, will have great influence upon the ultimate destiny of Germany and therefore upon the political destiny of Europe."

Though pre-election predictions generally had favored the Social Democrats, strong in pre-Nazi Berlin, the defeat the S.E.D. suffered surprised many.

Dewey Sees Vets, Talks On Housing

Governor Tells Them State Is Doing All It Can to Alleviate Shortage

Group Is Defiant

Those Who 'Took' State Senate Plan to Form Organization

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 21 (AP)—A dramatic 23-hour seizure of the New York State Senate chamber by more than 70 World War 2 veterans was at an end today with the assurance of Governor Thomas E. Dewey that "we are doing everything we know how" to alleviate the housing shortage.

Dewey met with the tired and hungry ex-servicemen for 40 minutes yesterday in his executive offices.

After hearing Dewey, the group returned to the Senate chamber, decided to form a permanent organization, issued a statement that they would work to defeat the governor in the November 5 election and ended their sitdown.

The veterans left the capital in a defiant mood, threatening to carry their demands for an $800,000,000 housing program into every section of the state.

Led by Quill

They were mostly New York city, who with 2,000 members of two New York city C.I.O. locals, marched on the capitol Saturday. The union locals, consisting of teachers and public workers, seek pay increases. They were led by Michael J. Quill, president of the Transport Workers Union (C.I.O.).

The veterans group, originally numbering 75, entered the capitol grounds Saturday afternoon, took possession of the senate chamber at 2 p. m. and went into a "mock senate" session, vowing to remain until Dewey called a special session of the legislature to act on the housing shortage.

The ex-servicemen immediately faced a problem of getting food because capitol guards and State Police barred all doors. Two who went for food were prevented from returning. The only woman in the group, Miss June Lottar of Brooklyn, former Wac was excused Saturday night.

Night Passed in Chairs

The veterans passed the night dozing in the red leather swivel chairs at senatorial desks or sleeping in the Senate ante-chambers between bursts of oratory and singing.

Dewey agreed to see the veterans at 10 a. m. Sunday. He told them that New York state had completed more housing than any of the other 47 states and had outbuilt the federal government.

Dewey said the federal government had "seen fit" to "seize and divert" scarce housing materials to federal projects.

Administration than any other party.

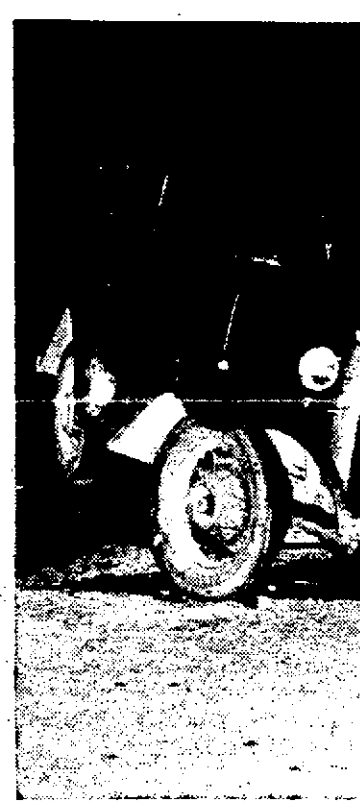

S.E.D. campaigners aimed their sharpest barbs at the Social Democrats, whom the S.E.D. called a "rump" group because they had revolted against last winter's Soviet-endorsed merger with the Communists and set themselves up independently here.

The S.E.D. had claimed that the Social Democrats would show strength only in the American and British sectors. But an early breakdown of the vote made it plain that they were strong all over the city and whipped the S.E.D. even in some important districts of the Soviet sector.

Two such districts were Prenzlauerberg, where the S.P.D. polled the S.E.D. 71,887 to 49,575, and Friedrichshagen, where the S.P.D. won 60,140 to 40,526 over the S.E.D.

In the American-sector district of Neukölln, which has a large worker population, the S.P.D. got 99,205 votes and the S.E.D. 31,741 on the basis of virtually complete returns.

Three Men Injured in Crash

Sunday evening about 8:30 o'clock three men were injured in a two-car crash at Maple Hill, none of them seriously.

An investigation by State Trooper E. J. Johnson of Highland barracks disclosed that a car driven north by Charles Linacre, 20, of Prospect street, New Paltz, attempted to pass a car going in the same direction and struck the car operated by Alfred D. Williams, 26, of 1 Pierce Road South, Newburgh, which was proceeding in a southerly direction.

Both cars were badly damaged. Linacre sustained a scalp laceration and injuries to his right leg and knee. Williams had an injury to his left knee and was bruised about the body. William Lozier, 23, of 212 DuPont avenue, Newburgh, riding with Williams, had a very severe laceration of the mouth.

All three men were taken to the Kingston Hospital by the Conner Ambulance and after treatment Williams was discharged. Linacre and Lozier remained at the hospital. Their condition was reported as good.

Auto Leaves Road, Hits Tree in Neher Yard at West Camp on Sunday

Robert Brazee, 21, of 61 Brewster street, Arthur H. Dittus, 27, of 63 German street and Wendell Edward Scherer, 30, of 38 Adams street, were injured Sunday morning about 6:15 o'clock when the car in which they were riding left the road and struck a tree in the yard of Mrs. Edward Neher at West Camp.

All three men were brought to the Kingston Hospital by the Lamoureux Ambulance Service of Saugerties and treated. Brazee and Dittus were discharged later in the day but Scherer who had a severe laceration of the head and possible fracture of the skull and other injuries remained at the hospital for further observation. His condition today was reported "fair" and that he had a "fairly comfortable night."

Trooper E. J. Rock of the Lake Katrine barracks investigated the accident and reported the car was proceeding southerly when it suddenly left the road and struck a tree on the Neher property.

Brazee suffered contusions of the forehead, cut over the eye and lacerations of the chin and leg. Dittus was cut on the forehead and over the eye and on his chin.

Vatican Denies Rumors

Vatican City, Oct. 21 (AP)—Italian police issued last night a flat denial of rumors, which spread here and abroad yesterday, that an attempt had been made to assassinate Pope Pius XII. The Italian Vatican Agency said it learned from Vatican sources the rumor had been circulated even in the Vatican. The rumor circulated as the Pontiff made preparations to travel from his summer residence, Castel Gondolfo, to the Vatican to venerate the French nun Marie Therese de Soubiran, founder of the Order of Marie Auxilatrice, who was beatified in solemn ceremonies at St. Peter's yesterday.

Increase Is Declined

Yonkers, N. Y., Oct. 21 (AP)—City Comptroller Thomas V. Kennedy declined an $800 increase to his $7,200 annual salary because, he said, "the city is not in a position to pay it." "I ought to know," said Kennedy, who passes on the city's expenditures. "If you're going to have stabilization of government, it has to start with someone."

Americans Seize Arms in Germany

Disclosure Is Made After Stuttgart Bombings; Outbreak May Come

Stuttgart, Germany, Oct. 21 (AP)—American army officials, still investigating triple bombings of German and American installations in the Stuttgart area Saturday, disclosed today that "about 10" German arms caches were seized over the week-end in a widespread searches in southern Germany.

Two caches of arms were unearthed at Donauthal, southwest of Ulm, and the remainder in southern Bavaria.

The officials said, however, the seizures were not connected with the Stuttgart bombings. A high ranking American army officer, said he expected more bombings as "protests against the denazification program."

"The American military government expects a widespread outbreak against the denazification program," the official, who may not be named, said in Berlin.

U. S. military and German criminal police worked with counter intelligence agents in efforts to crack the bombing of two denazification board headquarters and a U. S. military jail which some investigators thought to be connected to the approaching German trial of Hjalmar Schacht, truculent old banker who was acquitted at Nuremberg. No one was hurt.

Schacht, under arrest in a German prison some distance from the one which was bombed, shouted "I am innocent" as he was taken to the prison.

Turkey Refuses to Talk With Reds on Dardanelles

Istanbul, Oct. 21 (AP)—Turkey has served notice again that she will not grant Russia a share in defense of the Dardanelles and in effect has refused even to talk with the Soviet Union on the subject.

The Ankara government last night published its second note within two months rejecting Soviet demands that Black Sea nations alone control the strategic strait and that Russia and Turkey join in the Dardanelles defense.

The note voiced Turkey's willingness to take part in a many-nation conference for revision of the 1936 Montreux Convention governing the strait—a move the United States, Britain and Russia agreed upon at Potsdam. But it added:

"The work of preliminary preparations desired at Potsdam is at the present hour virtually completed, thanks to communications made by the United States and only Black Sea powers."

Between (the) two worlds separated by the restricted space of the straits, she is conscious of the obligation which this situation imposes upon her in regard to the two seas that wash her shores (and) can not, therefore, consider the question of the Black Sea and straits as a problem interesting only Black Sea powers."

Both Men Are Killed Violently

William J. Gossoo Is Beating Victim, Pvt. Earl F. Gossoo Dies in Jeep Crash

Bartender Is Held

Poughkeepsie Man Is Held for Assault, Is Free on Bail

Death struck twice at the Gossoo family over the week-end, with an ocean between the two victims.

Saturday night William J. Gossoo, 31, a bus driver who lives at Poughkeepsie, died in the Vassar Brothers Hospital there of injuries police said he suffered in a beating.

(The Freeman today could obtain no information about Pvt. Gossoo, who was listed by the army as having a residence at 111 Green street, this city. His brother, William J., was said to have lived at one time at Shandaken.)

While relatives prepared for William's funeral, word came from army authorities in Berlin of the death of Pvt. Earl F. Gossoo of Kingston, William's first cousin.

Earl, the army said, was killed and another soldier injured when their jeep collided with another on a highway west of Berlin.

Army authorities announced today in Berlin T/5 Harold Spurgin, of Route 2, Connersville, Ind., was injured when at the same time the jeep in which he and Gossoo was riding and another collided on a highway west of Berlin Friday.

Spurgin suffered head lacerations. The army announcement said one of the vehicles had stopped suddenly to avoid running over a Russian soldier crossing the highway.

Spurgin is a member of Troop D of the 15th Constabulary Squadron here, as was Gossoo.

Beaten Two Weeks Ago

William Gossoo's death according to the Poughkeepsie police, was due to injuries received in a beating he is alleged to have received at the hands of Pellegrini Truncale, a bartender, two weeks ago.

Truncale disappeared after the fight, and was picked up several days later in New York, and returned to Poughkeepsie where he is being charged with second degree assault. Truncale is out on bail.

Gossoo's skull was fractured in the assault, which took place outside the Piccadilly Circus Tavern on Washington street in Poughkeepsie.

May Extend Stamp

Washington, Oct. 21 (AP)—Because many households have been unable to buy sugar for home canning, O.P.A. officials said today they are studying possible extension of the special ration stamps provided for that purpose. The ration books were scheduled to expire October 31. "We have reports from a number of households that they did their canning and hope to buy sugar later," the O.P.A. spokesman said. O.P.A. said the sugar shortages were a result of the maritime strikes and that the sugar shipments are expected to meet consumer demands later.

Two Cases in Court Before Bergan

Decision Reserved in One. Testimony Given in Other

In Supreme Court here today, Justice Bergan reserved decision in a property recovery action, and with a jury present heard testimony in a negligence action.

The real property case is one brought by Myra Scherer and another against L. Bruce Moore, involving possession of a woodlot in the town of Denning at Sundown. John Bonomi appeared for plaintiff and Thomas J. Pionkett for defendant.

The negligence action is brought by William Jackson and another of Saugerties against S. & D. Motor lines, Inc., of Fulton. Plaintiff seeks payment for damages to his car and also for personal injuries as a result of a collision between plaintiff's car and a tractor-trailer south of Saugerties on the night of April 16, 1945. Jackson was driving his car northerly and the truck was passing another truck when the accident happened. It was a rainy night and after the collision the truck overturned.

N. Joseph Friedman and A. J. Cook appear for plaintiff and N. LeVan Haver for defendants. During the morning Corporal Raymond J. Dunn of the State Police testified on the investigation of the accident. He said the truck was on its side when he arrived, making it necessary to route traffic over to the south lane to pass the scene. He described marks on the pavement leading up to the truck, but said there were other less distinct marks on the pavement. Photographs of the scene were introduced and shown to the jury.

Cotton Market Breaks $10 Per Bale Again; Plea Made

New Orleans, Oct. 21 (AP)—The cotton market, on which trading was suspended for the Saturday session to allow a big operator to liquidate, broke $10 a bale again today, then staged a recovery and appeared stabilizing.

A farmer spokesman protested, meanwhile, that the price break might mean a $200,000,000 loss to growers.

All months went the limit of $10 a bale or 200 points below the previous close in the first hour of today's session, under a continuation of general selling.

But in the second hour new buying brought a recovery of $5 to $7.70 a bale from the day's lows, or $2.30, to $5 a bale below the previous close.

At that hour Dec. sold at 32.55 cents a pound, off 83 points; March 32.15, off 66 points; May 31.55, off 100 points; July 30.50, off 95 and Oct. 27.90, off 46.

While brokers took stock of their market dealings, N. C. Williamson, cotton grower and veteran farm leader of Lake Providence, La., wired President Truman and Secretary of Agriculture Anderson to "use emergency" war powers to protect farmers from ruinous prices.

Williamson estimated that last week's losses to the farmers under the drop of about $25 a bale would amount to $200,000,000 to the south's main cash crop, unless there is a substantial price recovery. This was based on an 8,000,000-bale crop.

In his telegram Williamson told the Washington officials: "Cotton is in a strong statistical position, the 1946 crop is the shortest in 50 years, postwar domestic consumption continues high and exports are increasing."

"Farmers should not be stampeded into dumping their cotton on the market, which would further demoralize it," Williamson said.

At the start of the market here today the tone was irregular with opening prices $3 to $1 a bale lower, and May, July and Oct. at the $10 a bale limit. Other months then followed.

Heavy buying marked the reopening. Traders considered it a continuation of selling of the past three sessions when the market hit the $10 limit on each day.

Whether other brokers lost in the week-end liquidation of the large operator was undetermined, as no records were made public by the exchange.

The New Orleans market resumed operations today along with the New York, Chicago and Dallas markets.

Opening prices were: Dec. 32.60 cents a pound; March 32.21, May 31.02, July 29.45, and Oct. 26.36.

ed to a reporter from his cell that the bombings were "obviously a democratic protest against the Hitlerite measures of the Germans who want to try me again."

Reward Is Offered

The city of Stuttgart offered a $2,500 reward for information. American authorities disclosed that an American motor pool was destroyed in an explosion in the Mannheim area early this month and that a week before the Stuttgart bombings, an American army officer's car was demolished south of here by an infernal machine.

The investigators thought both incidents "possibly may have some connection."

Schacht, who was Hitler's finance minister and Reichsbank president early in the Nazi regime, said he learned of the bombings early today.

"It could not be a plot to kill me—who would want to kill me?" the tall, heavy-jawed German said fiercely. "I am no Nazi. They are protesting against the illegal measures of these Germans who today are trying to imitate Hitler."

"I am being detained illegally. These Germans are stupid fools. Criminals. Rogues. Hitlerites. Who ever heard of a man being tried twice on the same charges? This is not democracy, this is Hitlerism."

Voters in 7 States Will Decide What To Do for Veterans

Results at Polls Also May Serve as Barometer for 80th Congress; New Bills Due

Washington, Oct. 21 (AP)—Voters in seven states will decide directly next month what, if anything, they want to do about helping veterans.

And if the results in California, Illinois, Louisiana, New Jersey, Michigan, Rhode Island and Texas follow a definite pattern, they may well serve as a barometer for the 80th congress.

For when the national lawmakers assemble again in January they are almost certain to encounter demands for new legislation to supplement the wartime G.I. Bill of Rights.

The November veterans' aid proposals are among 132 constitutional amendments, referenda and similar special ballot questions to be submitted to voters in 35 states in addition to regular ballots listing congressional, state and local candidates.

Only six more than the number voted on in 30 states two years ago, the 132 issues deal with everything from veterans' bonuses to legalized betting on dog races.

Business Loans

A constitutional amendment proposed in California would permit the state to make business loans to veterans, while a referendum to be voted on in the same state provides for a 100,000,000 bond issue to help veterans buy homes and farms.

Michigan and Illinois voters will decide whether to follow the lead of their legislatures and give veterans a bonus.

The plan approved by the Illinois legislature, contingent upon voter acceptance of a $385,000,000 bond issue, would give state veterans a bonus of $10 for each month of domestic service and $15 for foreign duty. Next of kin of an estimated 17,000 men who died from service-connected causes would receive a flat $300 each.

Michigan's proposed $270,000,000 bond issue would finance a maximum bonus of $500.

Homestead Exemption

A constitutional amendment to be voted on in Louisiana would provide a $5,000 homestead exemption to veterans.

A referendum in New Jersey will determine whether that state will float a $35,000,000 bond issue for a veterans' emergency housing program. New Jersey already has provided for a $500 annual pension to veterans blinded during the war.

In Rhode Island, the outcome of two referenda will determine whether soldiers, sailors, marines and merchant seamen shall receive a bonus.

In a special election November 7, two days after the regular election, voters will pass on a proposed constitutional amendment to create a fund to buy land for Texas veterans.

Maine voters already have rejected two proposals to permit payment of bonuses, while New Hampshire, Vermont and Massachusetts have actually voted bonuses.

John Miller Dies Of Heart Attack Driving His Auto

Albany Avenue Resident Was on Way to Game at West Point; Was War Veteran

John Miller, of 169 Albany avenue, a retired mechanical engineer and World War I veteran, died suddenly Saturday while driving his car on Route 9-W near Highland.

Mr. Miller, who was accompanied by his wife and Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. King of Kingston, was behind the wheel of his car en route to the Army-Columbia game at West Point when stricken with a heart attack.

When approaching Highland, Mr. Miller suddenly slumped over the wheel. Mr. King who was in the front seat realized that Mr. Miller was ill and immediately shut off the ignition and took the wheel, thus avoiding a possible accident in the heavy traffic.

Mr. Miller was given first aid treatment at Highland by Dr. Thompson and was later conveyed to the Kingston Hospital by Conner's ambulance. He died shortly after reaching the hospital.

Mr. Miller was a World War I veteran and attained the rank of major. He was a graduate of the University of Purdue and was employed by Vacuum Oil Company as mechanical engineer for a number of years before his retirement, about 15 years ago. He came to Kingston at that time and took up residence in the former Forsyth homestead on Albany avenue.

Surviving in addition to his wife, Mrs. Elinor Chipp Miller, are two brothers, Thomas Miller of Rockville Centre, L. I.; and Commander Bruce Miller of Swarthmore, Pa.

Funeral services will be held from the residence, 169 Albany avenue, on Tuesday at 2 p. m.

Memorial

In loving remembrance of my dear husband, Charles H. Styles, who died on July 7, 1946, on this his birthday.

When evening shadows gather, And I am sitting here alone, In my heart there comes a longing.

If you only could come home, My heart is sad and lonely, My grief too deep to tell, Time will come I care not when, That I with you may dwell.

How sweet this thought, When life's short years are past, No more to weep, no more to part.

To meet in Heaven at last, The moon and stars are shining, Tonight on a silent grave, Beneath lies one I always loved, But whom I could not save.

We didn't agree on a number of things
I was a youngster... He was a man
Life was a journey on greater wings
I was impulsive... He had a plan.

Wisdom and prudence in daily affairs...
Why should I listen... knee-deep in youth...
Why should I value such old-fashioned wares
Gazing at rainbows... brighter than truth.

Rainbows have vanished and so have the years
Now I am searching... blessings I had
Now I would listen with welcoming ears
Gladly accepting... words of my Dad.

Rumors Are Denied That U.S. Is Supporting Jap Premier

By RUSSELL BRINES

Tokyo, Oct. 21 (AP)—Authorities at General MacArthur's headquarters deny persistent rumors that they are giving special support to the strongly conservative government of Premier Yoshida, but Tokyo is skeptical, bolstered by a Briton's pointed remarks.

W. MacMahon Ball, United Kingdom representative on the four power Allied Council for Japan, startled the council's latest meeting by telling the American member, Chairman George C. Atcheson, Jr.:

"I would also like to go on record as saying I would not, without very careful further consideration, be able to identify myself with your expressions of cordiality and confidence toward the present Japanese government."

He had noticed, he added, "the United States member has been very quick and eager to defend the work of the Japanese government" whenever any council member criticized it.

Atcheson, who just had praised the Japanese for honesty in their April elections, replied "I shall continue to bespeak recognition of merit where merit exists in activities of the Japanese government under the occupation."

"In fact, the time has come when Japanese aims have become virtually identical with Allied aims."

This exchange stirred long existing rumors that MacArthur's section chiefs had been ordered to "go easy" on the government.

No Softening of Policy

The highest authorities here deny this. They say there has been no softening of policies; that MacArthur has no interest in the Yoshida government as such; that the Japanese themselves are expected to initiate reforms without continual prodding.

Nevertheless, these rumors have helped to divide opinion within MacArthur's headquarters on the methods and purposes of the occupation. Many critics, usually civilians, say the occupation has slowed to avoid upsetting government circles with new directives of similar vigor to those characteristic of the early days of the occupation. They cite that there has been no purge of prominent wartime industrial and economic figures although such a directive is known to have been in preparation for some time.

There is an evident feeling at headquarters that it is necessary to preserve a strong conservative class in Japan, primarily as a bulwark against potentially heightened Communist activities or violent class warfare.

Could's Survive Reprimand

It is doubtful if the Yoshida government, consistently attacked by labor and left wing groups, could survive any pronounced MacArthur reprimand. Resignation of the cabinet under such circumstances would hit severely old line conservatives. They are epitomized by Yoshida, and the men behind him, including his father-in-law, Count Nobuaki Makino, one-time confidante of Emperor Hirohito.

Yoshida and his ministers are scheduled to resign before May, when the new constitution becomes operative. It provides that the premier and a majority of the ministers must be Diet members. At that time, Yoshida could withdraw without giving leftists a chance to claim credit.

So MacArthur's headquarters and the influence of its directives hold the balance of power. On the other hand, left wing elements who are demanding "the end of conservative governments" form a clear but vocal minority. Several times official spokesmen for MacArthur have hinted that these groups were advised by the Soviet and were lead by men desiring to establish dictatorial control.

The only assailable edict from the Japanese people is the result of the April election, which gave a substantial majority to conservatives.

Reacted as Conservatives

Yoshida and his government have reacted as conservatives could be expected to act. The major changes they have fostered resulted from MacArthur's directives. They are reluctant to initiate any reformation that would penalize their class, yet they are anxious to avoid offending Allied authorities or peoples. Their conformance seems to be genuine to reforms which do not alter the present class alignment or balance of power.

A general poverty of leadership continues in Japan, and neither left wingers nor labor has produced any of outstanding caliber with the possible exception of Sanzo Nozaka, a veteran Communist who is reported planning to break with his minority party.

Democratic Candidate Hits at G.O.P. in Talk

New York, Oct. 21 (AP)—Sen. James M. Mead, Democratic party gubernatorial candidate, says "there is no room for liberalism in the Republican Party today." He told a gathering of Broadway stars last night, preliminary to appearances today at Hyde Park, Poughkeepsie and Troy, that the Republicans "cut down Wendell Willkie in his prime." They sidetracked Stassen. They eliminated Norris and LaFollette. Mr. Dewey led the fight that broke Wendell Willkie's heart. He personally purged Joe Baldwin. Today there is no place in the Republican Party for even an Abraham Lincoln.

"The occasion of his speech was a 'Broadway for Mead' dinner, presided over by Suptor Jo Davidson, which included a program with such stage stars as Judy Holliday and Lew Parker, Duke Ellington and his orchestra, and not created yesterday. They were withheld. These reactionaries want profits first—progress last."

HAMMERS AND NAILS

It may not have occurred to most of us that one of the most vital needs in this world today is nails. Just iron nails to hammer things with—including of course the necessary hammers, which themselves are surprisingly scarce. Just to drive this fact home—which itself is what nails and hammers are for—it is explained right now that war veterans, striving mightily to get thousands of houses over their heads before winter settles down, are being held up by the lack of such simple tools and materials. One city alone reports a lack of more than 4,000 kegs of nails.

We may yet come to the organization of keg parties—not for what some sarcastic citizens may think, but for the kegs to hold the nails that ought to be going into half-built homes where they belong. Children by thousands may be going around picking up useful nails, rust and all, and turning them into piles of iron, as a patriotic duty.

And that may remind some old-timers of the days when they were barefoot boys, going around and picking up for private sale old bones and iron, for which dealers paid real pennies.

More tin than the world needs may be produced when the tin areas of the Far East are opened again, says Sir John Wilmot, British Minister of Supply. How strange it will seem to have an oversupply of anything but trouble!

POOR FICTION

Discriminating readers have for some time been protesting about the low average quality of today's fiction output. Writers with no literary background and only a minimum of writing ability have flooded the market with flashy products. Novels are being advertised like breakfast foods or patent medicines, with selling emphasis being placed on their sensational qualities rather than on expert workmanship, life-like characters or convincing plots. But the tide has turned, and in bookstores of large cities the sale of fiction is reported to be down from 33 to 50 per cent.

Where protests and complaints have been unavailing, a dropping sales rate is apt to prove effective. Publishers will not long continue to put out books that let them down. So relief is in sight, and the reader who has turned to his shelves to take down and re-read an old favorite instead of buying a new book can begin to make room for volumes worthy to stand beside Dickens and Thackeray.

Girl babies talk more than boys, a scientist reports. A number of comments are possible, but none is safe for anyone who wants to live peaceably at home.

NO PROBLEM INSOLUBLE

A unique solution of two shortages, that of teachers and household help, has been affected in a Chicago school. A shorthand instructor was needed. A good one was available, one Mrs. Ursula Shaughnessy. But she was the mother of two babies, three and two years old. She was offered the school job, but could get no one to care for her children. So, she brought them to school where they play quietly in one corner of the room while she leads a class of young women through the mysteries of business curlicues and hieroglyphics.

Everybody seems satisfied with the arrangement, including the babies. Apparently it is not always necessary to follow old patterns, even in school rooms.

Everything will look queer to the next generation except the queerest thing of all, which is human nature.

'These Days'

By George E. Sokolsky

THE RUSSIAN PRIORITY

Among the most beautiful incidents that Elliott Roosevelt records is the appalling ignorance of Russian conditions on the part of General Eisenhower. Let me quote Elliott:

"Back in London after this mission to Moscow and the southern Russian front, I had one opportunity for relaxation from the constantly growing pressure of the imminent invasion. This was an evening of bridge, with Ted Curtis and I going down in ignominious defeat before the deadly efficiency of Ike Eisenhower, who teamed that night with his aide, Harry Butcher. I remember the occasion because they pumped us dry about our trip to the Soviets. What was it like? What was their army like? How were their fliers? How was their discipline? What did they think of us? They were interested not so much in the attitudes of the officials who had turned up at Tehran or in London as in those of the field officers, and the Russian G.I.s."

Here is the general in command of all our armies, responsible for the success of our effort, charged with planning an attack through France contingent upon simultaneous offensives out of Russia, dumping a converted civilian for information he should have received from the Russians directly as the normal cooperation among allies. Why did not General Eisenhower go to Russia, observe the Russian army at work, see the Russian front? Why did he need to get it from the untrained Elliott Roosevelt?

But the fact is that the Russians provided no information, not even on the operations of Lend-Lease equipment, nor even a schedule of the quantity and type of Lend-Lease equipment needed by them and provided by the Russians. The Russians did not need to provide such a schedule, for they were given, as a priority over every agency for supplies. They received 14,000 planes, for instance, many of which were never used by them or anyone else.

General MacArthur was at that time frightfully short of supplies because they were being shipped to Russia. MacArthur was complaining to everyone he could reach of the peril to his armies because of this lack of supplies. So, apparently on White House orders, American civilians were kept out of the MacArthur zone that they might not return with his wall of war about shortages. The question is: Why was MacArthur left without supplies while Soviet Russia was given a priority?

It was the decision of Harry Hopkins, as Lend-Lease Administrator, that Russia was to have what it wanted from us no matter who else wanted or needed the supplies. And Americans were to ask no questions, make no investigations either of need or of usage. This decision was carried out to the letter by General Philip Faymonville, Lend-Lease Administrator in Moscow. This needs to be made subject to a Congressional investigation.

General Faymonville, while theoretically subordinate to the American Ambassador and the War Department, operated on his own, reporting directly to Harry Hopkins and President Roosevelt. He was regarded as pro-Russian beyond the bounds of diplomacy. The American Army, of which he was a part, was not supplied with information essential to the conduct of the war. This led to the feud between Admiral Standley, our Ambassador at Moscow, and General Faymonville, which ultimately led to Standley's resignation and Faymonville's recall.

But this is important to us now: some of the few Americans who were, for one reason or another, permitted to enter and to leave Russia have reported that immense quantities of American Lend-Lease goods, airplanes, trucks, electrical equipment, steel, oil-well pumps, boilers and many other commodities were dumped along the railroad tracks of the Trans-Siberian Railroads from Vladivostok to the Amur River—and perhaps even as far as Baikal, unpacked, unused, unprotected against Siberian wind and weather. And all that while in the United States there were and are actual shortages.

Congress ought to delve deeply into all this to find out how it was done this way and who is responsible for it. Somebody blundered, and while error is human, it would be of value to know that it was a normal human error and not sinister sabotage.

ULCERATIVE COLITIS

I write frequently about mucous colitis (inflammation or irritation of colon or large intestine) or what is called chronic diarrhoea with considerable mucus present on the stools. It is found most frequently in nervous individuals, those afflicted with emotional disturbances. Sometimes, instead of diarrhoea, spastic constipation is present, the emotional disturbances causing spasms in muscles of large bowel just as they can cause spasms of stomach muscles, blood-vessels and other organs in the body.

A great many cases of spasms of lower bowel and of stomach occurred in the armed forces owing to the tension of nerves and muscles under the stress of war. The treatment of mucous and spastic colitis is having the patient try to acquire calmness of spirit and avoid rough foods.

However, there is severe type of colitis in which there is inflammation, not just irritation, of the colon or large bowel with formation of pus and blood in the stools. This is called ulcerative colitis because of the formation of ulcers on lining of colon.

The treatment of ulcerative colitis has always been a difficult matter, sometimes requiring removal of a part of the colon, despite soft meals, rest, soothing high enemas, treatment has been discouraging. It was only natural therefore that in fighting this distressing disease with pus formation penicillin should suggest itself to our research workers.

In the American Journal of Medical Sciences, Philadelphia, Drs. B. B. Korostoff and H. E. King report that they administered penicillin in doses of 30,000 units into the muscles, every three hours for four or five days up to a total of 1,200,000 units, to 5 patients with ulcerative colitis. The disappearance of the ulcers in lowest part of colon (rectum) within one week after the full dosage of penicillin had been given, was the outstanding accomplishment of penicillin treatment.

When we think of the prolonged medical and surgical treatment needed in ulcerative colitis, the results obtained in these 5 cases should encourage other patients and physicians to try penicillin treatment.

It is interesting to recall that the cornerstones of the Kingston Library, the Palen woodworking plant on Broadway, and the Industrial Home were laid in 1903. In previous sketches I have told of the laying of the cornerstones of the Palen plant and the library, and today I write of the laying of the stone of the Industrial Home on East Chester street.

The Industrial Home was first organized in 1876, and for a number of years was housed in a frame building on Broadway near Staples street. Older readers will recall the years the institution was on Broadway.

The cornerstone of the new Industrial Home was laid on November 7, 1903, by Governor Benjamin B. Odell. That day also marked the 25th anniversary of the granting of the first deed by the state of the tracts of Esopus Indians for land which is now included within the corporate limits of the city of Kingston.

Following the laying of the stone, interesting exercises were held in the state armory on Broadway with addresses by Governor Odell, Judge Alton B. Parker, Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck, and Judge A. T. Clearwater.

The inscription on the front of the stone reads: "The Industrial Home, Organized 1876. This building erected 1903." Upon the side of the stone is recorded: Esopus-Kingston, 1814. Fort erected, 1856. Deed given by Indians, 1777-State Government, 1777-Burned by British.

The year 1903 was also marked by the organization of the Woman's League in Kingston. On October 6 some 200 representative women of the city met in the city hall to discuss the formation of such an organization.

The following week an organization meeting was held at the city hall when Mrs. John W. Searing was elected president.

The other officers elected were Miss Ellen Van Slyke and Miss May Hall, vice presidents; Mrs. Charles Burham, recording secretary; Mrs. J. W. Howley, corresponding secretary; and Miss Isabel Clark, treasurer.

Mrs. Searing announced that a public spirited citizen had obtained the use of the Palmer House on Broadway, at Dederick street, for the use of the league free of charge until the spring.

The first meeting of the Woman's League in its quarters in the Palmer House was held on November 10, 1903, at which time it was decided to organize various classes with instructors for each class, and also to have a social program for each meeting.

The organizers of the Woman's League announced that it had been organized to carry on a program of educational and social activities for the women of the city. The Palmer House where the League held its meetings is now the headquarters of the branch bank.

Morris Block was re-elected for his second term as mayor of Kingston at the November election in 1903. He defeated his Republican opponent, Charles A. Schermerhorn, by 64 votes.

At the election that year the Democrats retained control of the Common Council.

Grover Webster, Democrat, was elected sheriff at the election; John D. Fratscher, Republican, county clerk, and Charles T. Coutant and William D. Cunningham, both Republicans, were elected to the state assembly.

In 1903 Ulster county was represented by two assembliesmen. Engineer, have calculated that mud left by the annual Nile River floods raises the land level an average of four inches a century. The Nile valley floor today is generally 20 to 30 feet higher than when the pyramids were built.

Byrnes' Speech Has Provided Answer to Russian Self-Asked Queries on What U. S. Would Do

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Oct. 21—Few very next paragraph, however, Secretary Byrnes gets a little more concrete. He says: "We must cooperate to build a world order, not to sanctify status quo, but to preserve peace and freedom, based on justice. As we must be willing to cooperate with one another—veto or no veto—to defend, with force if necessary, the principles and the purposes of the charter of the United Nations."

Had the speech been spelled out in explicit terms it would have been regarded as sensational. As it is the speech probably is too sensational for the Russian papers to print in the Russian papers for its people to read.

This address contains the answer to the question that Russia has been asking for several months: Will the United States defend herself if encroached upon by Russia and will the United Nations enforce the charter principles against any nation, Russia included, if some sudden attack or surprise seizure of territory is made, as for instance, at Trieste?

The passages of the Byrnes speech which make history are remarkable for their restraint and their absence of bluster, and yet they foretell American policy with unmistakable clarity. The secretary of state said, for example:

"There must be no seizure of power in Trieste after this war as there was in Fiume after the last war."

That's a warning against a Tito coup d'état. It means force will be used by the United Nations to overcome such a situation. But the address carefully avoids any specific threats. Only by a significant piece of implicit expression does the secretary come squarely down to the problem of enforcing peace. He tackles it this way:

"If states are to reach agreements they must act in good faith and in the spirit of conciliation. They must not launch false and misleading propaganda against one another. They must not arbitrarily exercise their power of veto, preventing a return to conditions of peace and delaying economic reconstruction...."

"States must not unilaterally by threats, by pressures, or by force disturb the established rights of other nations. Nor can they arbitrarily resist or refuse to consider changes in the relationships between states and peoples which justice, fair play and the enlightened sentiments of mankind demand."

That's the implicit form at its best. For no single country or state is mentioned and it might, for all anyone knows who reads, be merely a generality or an abstraction defining the ethics of good international behavior. The whole world knows however, that the Russian leaders have been acting "unilaterally" and have been "disturbing" and "refusing to consider" changes in the relationships between states and peoples.

Secretary Byrnes has answered pro-Russian critics in the United States as well as anti-American critics in Russia.

There might have been something said about the tens of thousands of American lives lost in opening the "second front" when Stalin appealed to us to give him in order to relieve the pressure of the German armies which had invaded Russian soil.

But the answer is plain enough though it is not couched in the implicit language of the first part of the address, it is unequivocal and reveals to all who read that the United States government feels that the totalitarian government in Moscow is irresponsible in its actions and its statements and carries on a mischievous propaganda through its controlled press attacking the policies and motives of the United States. Most significant is the final paragraph of the address which doesn't say a word about the Communist government in Moscow at all but extends in behalf of the American people "the hand of friendship to the people of the Soviet Union and to all other people in this weary world." The emphasis is on peoples—not governments.

ing some 2,000 agents on this continent to perfect the art of plausible lying, sitting down to a table with them to write the chapter on Finland and his war with that mighty, threatening capitalist nation, which had all but surrounded Russia when Stalin seized the Soviets by hurling his legions into the breach. It would be interesting to see the NEA historian and Stalin's man work up a sample chapter on Iran, or on Manchuria or Korea or Yugoslavia or Poland or the Baltic or Hungary or occupied Germany—a chapter which would show American school boards would be willing to adopt for American youngsters to study.

New Deal Lullaby
In the March issue of the NEA Journal, Editor Morgan ran a signed editorial urging giving our atomic secrets to UN. He talked about world government to bring freedom to all mankind. He talked also about world "economic democracy"—an expression worn shroud in the Communist press, which apparently would mean an economy planned and administered from Moscow where men are experts at doing even planning for you. Morgan even echoed that New Deal-PAC hubbly, "We have a big debt, but we owe it to ourselves." A song designed to anaesthetize people who ordinarily know that if you owe more than you are worth you are bankrupt—or should we say, in the Red?

School teachers generally are about as conservative and sound as any profession in the country. A prominent official of a West Coast city got out a form letter to a hundred other prominent men and women, mostly educators, calling attention to this and other editorials in the NEA journal. 29 replies, 27 concurred in repudiating the leftist stand as not representative of American education.

Teachers know their profession has been somewhat smeared because of a small percentage of Reds among them, largely the artistic kind. Now that America is engaged against the Marxists it is not unlikely that the teachers may start their own housecleaning.

PICTURE GALLERY

The great art of Europe—painstakingly created over the centuries—has been stolen, hidden in caves, recaptured, scattered over the continent.

But a new art is coming out of Europe now—a very realistic art. The four pictures above are examples of it.

Pictures like these can be taken almost anywhere in Europe today. The models are right at hand. Backgrounds do not have to be built. Models do not have to be told to "hold that pose." Most are too weak to change it.

You can help improve this art. It is not too beautiful as it stands. You can add beauty—and mercy—to it.

Perhaps you are not interested in art. But many people are. Many people are swayed by it—swayed to religious contemplation, to ideals of democracy, to anger, sorrow or indignation.

Art—such as the pictures now coming out of Europe—can sway people to violence and revolution, to rioting, disorder and lawlessness. And as we in America have learned only too well, disorder in the remotest corner of the world affects the order in our own land.

This is a plea to you to become a "patron of the arts"—to contribute what you can to improve the European picture. Of all the victims of Hitler, the Jews have been the worst sufferers. Six million dead. 1,400,000 survivors hovering between life and death. They ask for no preferential treatment. They ask only for the chance to live.

You can help shape tomorrow's masterpieces. The pictures that come out of Europe this year and next and for many years to come will reflect your handiwork. There is one inescapable fact—whatever they show is up to you.

THE GOLDEN RULE
We cannot make bargains for blisses.
Nor catch them like fishes in nets;
And sometimes the thing our life misses
Helps more than the thing which it gets.
For good lieth not in pursuing.
Nor gaining of great nor of small.
But just in the doing and doing.
As we would be done by, is all.

A patient who complained of digestive troubles was told by a specialist that he was drinking too much, and that he would have to stop.
Patient—Well, what am I to tell my wife?
Doctor (after thinking for a few moments)—Tell her you are suffering from syncope. That will satisfy her.
Wife—What is syncope?
Husband—I don't know, but that's what he said.
When her husband had gone out the wife looked up the word in the dictionary and found it meant: "Irregular movement from bar to bar."

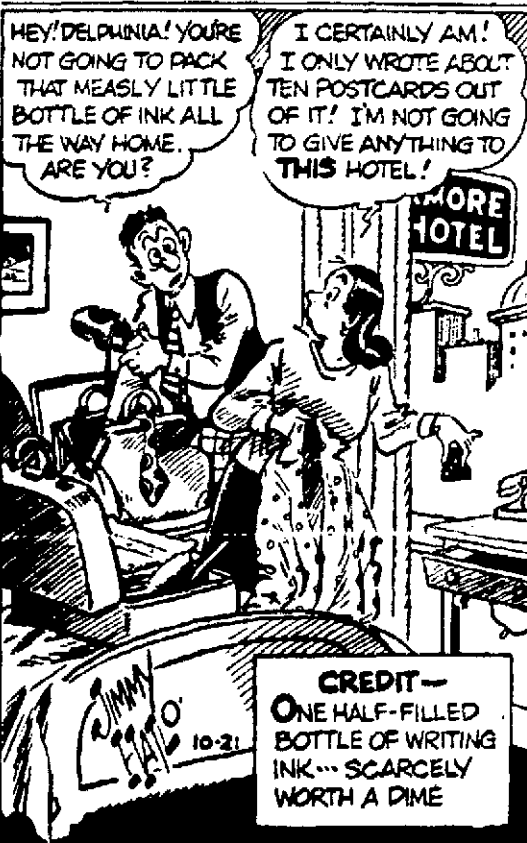

These "Shorts" are from Grit: "If what you did yesterday still looks big to you, you haven't done much today."
"It's all right to have a friend in need—provided he doesn't need too much."

"Worry is what you sometimes read between the lines on a person's face."

Husband—You did, my sweet! It started to strike 10, but I stopped it to keep it from waking you up.

Calf Selection Day Is Discussed by Holstein Breeders

Thursday evening Edmund R. Bower, 4-H Club agent, and Margaret Brundage, assistant 4-H Club agent at large, attended a meeting of the U.S.O. (Ulster, Sullivan and Orange) Holstein Breeders at the Methodist Church in New Paltz where a dinner meeting was held.
After a turkey dinner which had been arranged by Frank Elliott, Andrew Berkshaw, the president of the Holstein Association, conducted a business meeting.
Outstanding in the discussions which followed was that of Calf Selection Day. The Holstein Breeders have a system of collecting high grade calves which are brought to a central point where boys and girls may choose a calf for an agriculture project. This year the selection day will be Saturday, October 26, at the Eller farm at New Paltz. To date 44 calves have been requested by 4-H Club boys and girls and future farmers of the three-county area.
The meeting was attended by about 125 Holstein breeders. An invitation to all boys and girls who are junior members of the Holstein Association was extended to attend future meetings.

Peter, interviewed, said: "I write it to please myself and I shan't write any more books, because it's hard work."

In the program that followed Robert Howard of Sherburn, who is New York state chairman of A.A.A. and of Holstein Dairyman, talked on a conservation program and outlined conservation practices that may be used to benefit farms of this area.
Dr. E. V. Moore, assistant commissioner of the Department of Agriculture and Markets, gave an outline history of the development of the Department of Agriculture and went on to tell of some of the special services now available.

 N. Y., Oct. 21 (AP)—A mistrial was granted today to Ward Beecher Caraway, 23-year-old Negro Butler charged with the slaying of Mrs. Marjory Church Logan, 52.

The new trial date November 21 was set by Judge Henry J. A. Collins of the Nassau County Court, over the objection of District Attorney James N. Gebrigg, who said the state was ready and asked that a new trial be scheduled for November 11. James D. C. Murray, newly-appointed defense counsel, said he had other commitments, including three pending jury trials, which would make it impossible for the defense to be ready before November 21.

Land Boom South Of Kingston Seen

Burnett Lists Transfers and Developments

That there has been a real demand for real estate during the past year in the area along Route 32, south of Kingston, is indicated by detailed information secured for Previews, Inc., of New York city, part of a national survey. The purpose was to get information on the values of land and the demand for property.

It is stated by W. L. Burnett that acreage is being sold by various owners from DeWitt Lake hill to the Kingston city line, that many new homes and summer cottages are under construction, the homes being occupied mostly by Kingston and New York city people.

Some information released by Mr. Burnett:

Property was purchased by Dr. Stwartz of New York, who has built a very attractive home on DeWitt Lake hill. Eleven acres were purchased by Mrs. Thompson and Mr. Riedel who have developed their property and made a year-round home. Four acres of land from the same title were purchased by Mr. and Mrs. John Seladi of Bethlehem, Pa., who have built a very modern bungalow for a year-round home. At the top of the hill a development was laid out by Leo Volk; homes were built for Mr. Yenta, Mr. Miller, Mr. Silvac and Mr. Lutz. Other homes are being built by Mr. Volk, which will be occupied soon. North of the section, toward Kingston, the Viano property was purchased by Mr. Schapert and Mr. Lewis of New York, who are building three new bungalows for summer rental; they are opening a new street across the property, with the intention of building several new buildings during the winter. At the same location, across Route 32, Mr. Clavanne of Valley Stream is building and grading land to move a welding business to this new section. North toward Kingston, Mr. Vincent Auninno has placed 12 new, ready-cut cabins, purchased from Gimbel's. Mr. Auninno has also built a good sized building for repair shop, and gasoline station. Mr. Miller and John Machino of the Trailway restaurant has purchased land at DeWitt Lake hill and are planning several modern bungalows for rental. Mr. Machino is also constructing a building for a restaurant south of the intersection at DeWitt Lake.

Francis W. Kelley of Freeport, has taken title to ten acres of the former DeWitt property, at DeWitt Lake hill. Mr. Kelley will build a summer home and retire there from business. He has been in the export business for 30 years.

Mr. Uscher of Broadway, has had several men grading and landscaping a few acres just south of the city. The land is from the Black property and Mr. Uscher will build a home there.

The new speedway road which will be built across the state runs west of DeWitt Lake, across the Hidden Valley property, through the DeWitt property, crossing the

Mrs. F.D.R. Urges Women's Group to Deal With U.N.

South Kortright, N. Y., Oct. 21 (AP)—The International Assembly of Women concluded an eight-day conference here today after hearing Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt urge that the assembly's findings on international affairs be presented to the United Nations Assembly.

The 191 delegates from 54 nations will visit the grave of President Franklin D. Roosevelt at Hyde Park tomorrow on the way to New York city where a final session will be held Thursday.

The U.N. General Assembly convenes in New York city Wednesday. The women's assembly has concluded that nutrition, health, education, leisure activities and employment are matters for international legislation, but that the ideals of the U.N. should be implemented first in the home and village.

"Your representatives in the United Nations will be enormously strengthened if they know you are interested in what they are doing," Mrs. Roosevelt said yesterday.

Sponsor of the conference in this Delaware county hamlet, the former first lady added:

"I hope you will take home from this conference a determination to face the problems of your own communities, your own country and of the world, and that you will take concrete problems one by one and see that something is done about one before you go on to another."

Will Ask New Jury

Mineola, N. Y., Oct. 21 (AP)—James D. C. Murray, new defense counsel for Ward Beecher Caraway, 23-year-old Negro butler charged in the slaying of Mrs. Marjory Church Logan, 32, says he will seek a new jury and a month's adjournment when the trial reopens today in Nassau County Court. Murray, who took over the defense after Attorney Charles R. Weeks retired from the case because of illness, said he would ask for a new jury because he had not participated in the selection of the present jury. Caraway was employed as butler and chauffeur at an estate near Mrs. Logan's Plandome home, where she was shot to death July 24.

Education Credits Still Available for Volunteers

There still are free educational opportunities for volunteers in the new peacetime Regular Army. Although October 6 was the deadline for educational benefits under the G.I. Bill of Rights for the full term of enlistment, men between the ages of 17 and 34 joining the service now will continue to get educational credits until the war is officially declared terminated, the U. S. Army announces.

Educational credits for all enlistments will accrue until the official termination of the war—one year of college after 90 days of service (one day of which must be served prior to the official termination of the war), plus one month additional for each month served thereafter.

Allowances remain unchanged. The government pays tuition, laboratory fees etc., up to $500 per year at a college or business or trade school, of the veteran's selection.

tion where he qualifies, plus gross pay of $65 monthly for living expenses, $90 if the veteran has dependents.

Those who were unable to enroll in colleges now crowded with wartime veterans resuming their education after three-to-five-year lapses, may enlist in the peacetime Regular Army and earn educational credits until the war is officially declared over, then start their schooling two or three years hence when the crowded conditions in colleges may be improved.

Says Car Struck Him

According to the police report the car is owned by William Preston, Jr., of 42 Elmwood street, and was being operated by Earl Williams of High Falls.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By ED CREAGH
(For Hal Boyle)

London, Oct. 21 (AP)—I always thought I could write better than Shakespeare and now I know it.

I refer, of course, to penmanship. A long suggestion of school teachers, city editors, bank clerks and passport officials have wrapped my knuckles, hurled copy back at me or just shook their heads over the high original way I form letters and words.

"Well, if they're over this way they can drop by the public record office museum, just re-opening after the bomb damage was patched up, and convince themselves that I am in good company for once. Shakespeare wrote as the bard's signature—discovered 36 years ago by Prof. C. W. Wallace of Nebraska—appears on a court document dated 1612 and is one of those things we must take upon faith, even though we think it odd that the man who wrote "Hamlet" should spell his name "Wilm Shap".

That's what it says on the label. To me it looks like "Walter Soskiasco" a very fine center fielder I once knew. My wife said it looked to her like a message delivered after 4 a. m. and later translated "won't be home for dinner."

"This man Shakespeare," said my wife severely, "would never have got his Palmer method certificate if he had lived to be a hundred. He should have done some push-pulls and compact ovals." She used to be a school teacher and knows about those things.

Not Much Better
Samuel Pepys, Guy Fawkes, John Knox and the poet Spenser didn't come off much better as we ambled around the big room where the British government has collected a few million pounds worth of historic documents for people to rubber it.

Fawkes, to be sure, had some excuse for the scrawl he put at the bottom of a statement admitting that he and some pals had been playing with matches in the neighborhood of some gunpowder under the Houses of Parliament. "The signature is believed to have been affixed after torture," the label says.

Geoffrey Chaucer on the other hand wrote prettily as you could ask, although it was all I could do to prevent my wife from marking red circles around the misspelled words. Henry VI took no chances, he signed his name with a wooden stamp.

It was like peering through a keyhole of history poring over the deeds and diaries, the musings and "please-remember" notices of seven centuries, while the uniformed guards kept counting to make sure they still were all there.

John Bunyan's preaching license was on display, and a note from Sir Walter Raleigh asking if he hadn't been in jail long enough, and a letter from George Washington to his "great and good friend" George III who had just lost a war in which Washington played some part.

There was a letter from the poet Shelley assuring his first wife he would do anything he could for her "even now when a violent and lasting passion for another leads me to prefer her society to yours."

The unconvinced wife drowned herself in Kensington Gardens.

But my favorite was an 1831 census blank on which Queen Victoria demurely listed herself as "wife" and her husband, the German-born Prince Consort, as "head of the family." I was still lecturing on the virtues of Victorian womanhood when 1 o'clock came and they turned out the lights.

Liner Queen Elizabeth Makes Peacetime Voyage

New York, Oct. 21 (AP)—The Cunard liner Queen Elizabeth, veteran of six years of wartime service, docked at 7:34 a. m. today in her maiden peacetime voyage to this country as the world's largest luxury liner.

Among the 2,314 passengers who lined her rails and glass-enclosed decks was a host of noted foreign visitors and returning Americans, many of them delegates to the United Nations General Assembly. Passengers included Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov and Sen. Tom Connally (D-Tex.).

During the war the Queen Elizabeth sailed nearly 500,000 miles and carried more than 800,000 servicemen.

Beverly Reese Heads County Christian Endeavor Union as All Women Are Elected to Offices

Miss Beverly Reese of the Reformed Church of the Comforter was elected president of the Ulster County Christian Endeavor Union at its 53th annual convention Saturday at the Flatbush Reformed Church. Also elected to serve for the year with Miss Reese were five other young women of the union: Miss Patricia Phillips, first vice president; Miss Anne Van Deusen, second vice president; Miss Joyce Lawrence, third vice president; Miss Lucilla Wilson, fourth vice president; and Miss Eleanor Besemer, fifth vice president. The slate was presented by the Rev. Robert E. Osman, chairman of the nominating committee.

The Rev. Osterhout Phillips and Charles Gumaer were elected advisors of the C. E. Union for two years to serve with the County Union's other two advisors, the Rev. Albert H. Shultis and Daniel Barnhart.

A hymn sing led by Richard B. Tallure, a trustee of the New York State Christian Endeavor Union, opened the afternoon program, followed by a devotional period conducted by the Flatbush Reformed C. E. Society.

The annual business session was held at 3 o'clock. The secretary's annual report was given by Miss Constance Blawie, the treasurer's annual report by Daniel Barnhart. Mr. Barnhart took over the treasurer's books a month ago when the county union treasurer, Wesley Lawrence, who had served well throughout the year, left for college. The president's annual message was given by Charles Gumaer, retiring president.

Two class periods followed the business session. A group discussion on "Youth Serving Today" was led by the Rev. Robert E. Osman and a class on Junior programs for Junior C. E. Societies was led by Miss Beverly Reese and Miss Lucilla Wilson.

The afternoon session was concluded by a recreation period under the leadership of the Rev. Albert H. Shultis of Rosendale. A banquet was served at 6 o'clock by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Flatbush Reformed Church at which time a fellowship song service was led by Richard Tallure.

The evening program was opened by a hymn sing again led by Mr. Tallure. An inspiring evening devotional period was conducted by Le Roy Webber and Miss Dorothy Main of the Church of the Comforter, Junior C. E. Society. The annual roll call of societies showed seven societies represented at the convention with a total registration of 80. The registrars were Miss Jean Myer and Robert Osterhout of the Flatbush Reformed C. E. Society.

Awards were made at the evening session as follows: a banner to the Flatbush Reformed C. E. Society for the large percentage of membership present; a picture, Sallman's "The Boy Christ" to the Stone Ridge C. E. Society for having the most delegate miles; and gold C. ## KNITTING AND SEWING AT SOCIAL GATHERINGS

A letter says: "Recently I went to a sort of reunion of college women who had served in various capacities during the war—most of them overseas. As soon as they were removed their coats and exchanged greetings, they settled themselves comfortably and began knitting or tapestry sewing. In fact, they all did, except the hostess and myself. 'Was I exceedingly narrow because I felt it was not courteous to bring work of this kind to a gathering where, in addition to talking to friends who had been to all parts of the world, the hostess had invited those with notable experience to address the meeting?' I said: 'I am not sure, but I am extremely grateful to be back in this free land.'"

Mrs. Spanjaard, her husband and 14-year-old son, Barry, were seized by the Nazi Gestapo after their home in Amsterdam, Holland had been visited and searched 13 times in one night. American passport didn't help when the Germans appeared for the 14th time. The Spanjaards were herded off with others to Belsen.

Every morning at least 2,500 Jews were sent to extermination camps in Poland. They entered shower rooms and were carried out dead. First in the gas chamber were the feeble and those unable to work, children included.

Son Couldn't Help Mother
"One morning a 95-year-old woman's name was read," said Mrs. Spanjaard. "Her son, a prominent eye specialist in Europe went to her, picked her up in his arms and cried, 'Mother, I can't help you. He carried her to a cattle car with a human cargo for extermination.'"

Hollanders were very kind, according to Mrs. Spanjaard, and often gave shelter to Jews. "Once a family offered to hide my son from the Gestapo, but I declined in favor of his American passport," she explained. "At first the Germans were careful in dealing with Americans. Later, they weren't."

Many Hollanders died giving refuge to Jewish children, some of whom they carried away in laundry bags to hide.

Who Am I?
Children separated from their parents were herded together and signs attached to them. The signs read, "Who Am I?" Many of these children are still waiting for help. It takes $225 to keep one for a year. The U. J. A. will aid as many as possible from its treasury.

At Belsen Jewish men were given 20 lashes a day. Many of them worked with open wounds. When the Germans got tired beating their victims, one Jew was forced to flog another.

Women had to work from 6 in the morning until midnight making shoes. Suffering from hemorrhages of the stomach, Mrs. Spanjaard was unable to rise one morning. A German doctor left her to die. A young Nazi guard ordered her to "get up you dirty Jew swine." When she tried to rise he struck her across the eyes with a club. Unable to bear up any longer, she pleaded, "Have you no heart, no mother of your own?" He ceased his fiendish attack.

Many Still Waiting
Food consisted of a bowl of turnip water and a piece of black bread. Mrs. Spanjaard went down to 85 pounds on this starvation diet and her husband's to 65. Many are still standing on food lines waiting for soup and bread. "Won't you help them," she implored.

Barracks were infested with lice and lacked light and heat. Babies with scanty covering looked blue. "I can recall picking them up in my arms," she said. "When their little bodies touched mine they collapsed from the warmth and died."

Referring to atrocity pictures, she said, "They weren't just propaganda. They were actual." Leaving Joseph Kramer's hell camp, the Spanjaards walked barefooted for 45 minutes one bitter cold day in January, 1945, to the comfortable Red Cross train that was to transport them to their ship for America. "We just couldn't make ourselves realize we were out of this Nazi hell," she told her listeners. Mr. Spanjaard died.

Americans Can Answer
Passing through Switzerland, her son was so amazed at the humane treatment after experiences that made him want to die, he remarked, "Are there really good people left in this world?"

"You can answer that question. Give to the United Jewish Appeal," Mrs. Spanjaard urged. "To help those little children still wanting to know 'Who Am I?' The oppressed people of Europe are your brothers and sisters. They'll say God Bless America and you."

Chairman Wessler whose assignment is to raise $115,000 in Kingston, thanking Mrs. Spanjaard for her appearance at the dinner added, "America is the only country on earth to which the stricken people of Europe can look for help. Be generous."

Rabbi Bloom, after offering prayers for the success of the drive in which he said "but for circumstances and Providence we might have been subject to these outrages that destroyed so many of our people," urged that Mr. Wessler be given support in his task.

Accepts Great Challenge
Pointing out that Chairman Wessler is a man who shuns praise, the rabbi said, "It is my concern to tell you how he came to Kingston two years ago, lived retreating, gave unstintingly to every philanthropic cause... and was drafted into the chairmanship of this drive because of his experience and dynamic approach. He accepted because of the great challenge of this worthy cause."

For him the day never ends, he never closes his desk. It is confident that under his leadership and with your generosity the drive will reach its goal.

Previous to last night's event, another was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Josephine Levine, 105 Mountain View avenue, at which $35,000 was raised for the cause.

Accused in Car Key Case, Two Call on Sheriff

Walter Hamilton of Port Ewen reported in the sheriff's office that as he and his sister were waiting for a Poughkeepsie bus on the corner of 9-W and Salem street Saturday night, a man came from the tavern on the corner and got into his car which was parked nearby.

The driver, Hamilton said, could not find his ignition key and accused Mr. Hamilton and his sister of stealing the key. He grabbed Mrs. Bogart's suit case and would not return it.

The sheriff's office was called and Deputy Sheriff Leonard Ellsworth was sent to investigate. The investigation identified Abraham Van Eiten of Hirsdale street, Kingston, as the man who had lost his keys. He was later released when Mr. Hamilton and his sister refused to file charges against him.

Jack Ruzzo Runs 93 Yards After Pass Interception

Marone to Bragg Aerial Nets Other Score for Locals: Team Gains 125 Yards on Passes

A sensational gallop of 93 yards after an intercepted pass by Jack Ruzzo spearheaded the Kingston Athletic Association football team to a thrilling 14 to 7 victory over the Newburgh Merchants at municipal stadium Sunday afternoon before a good turnout of fans. It was Kingston's second win in the Hudson Valley Semi-Pro Football League.

Walden-Middle Tie

In another league contest Sunday the Walden Red Tigers and Middletown Blue Devils fought to a 6-6 tie. Walden, although undefeated, has played two tie ball games.

Ruzzo's brilliant run yesterday came after 12 plays in the first half when the ex-marine star snatched Jigger McCurry's aerial on his own seven yard stripe and skirted through a whole host of Newburgh tacklers to click off one of the finest runs ever witnessed here. Ruzzo gained momentum on about his 40 and then outlegged the last two would-be Hilly City tacklers to the chalklines. A pass from Pete Marone to Andy Murphy added the seventh marker.

After going scoreless in the second stanza, Kingston marched exactly 60 yards for its second touchdown early in the third period after the kickoff. Fran McCormick booted out of bounds on the locals' 40 and the sustained march began after Ben Bragg was thrown for a 10 yard loss back to his 30. Ruzzo sliced off 11 yards up to the 41 on an off tackle smash.

After Ruzzo's pass was batted down, Marone faded back and hit Andy Murphy who grabbed the oval on Newburgh's 38 for a first down. Marone hit the line but was stopped and then dropped back for another aerial and threw it to Ben Bragg who grabbed it near the sidelines on about the 20 and graced over for the second touchdown. Don Neff's placement gave Kingston a 14-0 lead.

Newburgh finally got itself back in the game midway in the fourth canto after Ruzzo booted to his 42 where McCormick lugged it back to Kingston's 29. From here Newburgh resorted to the air. Two passes by Acilli were batted down but on the third he got one off to McCormick who was downed on Kingston's 12 for a first down. Three more passes were spilled but a five-yard penalty pushed the ball up to Kingston's seven. Charlie Amato kicked the seven, one tour and then he dove over for the touchdown. Amato also booted the extra marker.

Press Box Jottings

Sunday's wintry blasts failed to keep a good size turnout from watching the K.A.A. gridder in action. Fans were slow coming but the final turnout report was satisfactory. With Pete Marone and Jack Ruzzo chucking passes the locals gained exactly 125 yards through the air while Newburgh was held to 33. Ruzzo's first period run was a beauty. Newburgh players looked as though they had been swarmed under but the shifty ball lugger plowed through them all to ring up a sizzling gallop for those 93 yards. Kingston had another great opportunity to hit pay dirt late in the final period when Jack Ruzzo tossed a pass to Andy Murphy who made a sensational long grab of the ball on Newburgh's 18 and then raced up to the nine. Newburgh rallied, however, and staved off the threat. "Whitely" Grommel's interception of Acilli's pass ended the game on Newburgh's 28 yard line. Tom Curran, former Newburgh lineman, was in uniform for the K.A.A. Sunday but didn't see action. Fred Hofbrauer who was injured in the first game was on the bench but he was in civies. Two of Kingston High School's linemen—Lou Fuoco and Joe Albany—assisted the local club. Lou was the number one water boy while Joe helped out the linemen. The K.A.A. team plays Walden next Friday night at Walden.

Cockeyed Drive Continues in U. S. For College Teams

Army, Notre Dame, Texas Have Work Ahead, if They're to Stay on Top

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

New York, Oct. 21 (AP)—The college football season, a cockeyed campaign in which surprises are a dime a dozen and nothing seems impossible, reaches the halfway mark this week with only a handful of major teams still clutching untarnished records.

Many previously unbeaten outfits were engaged today in pulling themselves from the wreckage strewn across every section of the land in the past week-end's wave of upsets, and there was a strong possibility that similar embarrassment lay ahead for some of those who escaped.

Army, Notre Dame and Texas—still the nation's top—all have their work cut out for them next Saturday when they face tough opponents ready, willing and able to blemish their all-victorious records.

The Cadets, who blasted Columbia from the unbeaten ranks 48-14, move into New York's Polo Grounds for their annual battle with Duke. The Blue Devils, warned up for this one with a 41-0 whitewashing of Richmond, Notre Dame, idle last week, invades Iowa, which pulled one of Saturday's many surprises by blanking Indiana 13-0. Texas, which dumped previously unbeaten Arkansas 20-0, visits Rice, an improved team that dropped Southern Methodist 21-7 for its third triumph since losing a 7-6 opener to Louisiana State.

Pennsylvania's Quakers, who kept their record clean by smothering Virginia 40-0, entertain Navy, downed 21-14 by North Carolina for their third loss.
Cornell, tied 6-6 by Yale, visits Princeton, 14-7 winner over Rutgers, and Columbia goes to Dartmouth, upset 20-13 by Brown. Elsewhere in the east, it will be Coast Guard at Yale, Holy Cross at Harvard, Syracuse at West Virginia and Boston University at Brown.

Two Conference Games

Midwest fans will be treated to two conference games in the Big Nine, where the form already has been scrambled beyond recognition. Illinois, 27-21 victor over Wisconsin, will be at Michigan, which tied Northwestern, 14-14, and Minnesota, which swamped Wyoming 46-0, will go to Ohio State, tied 14-14 by Purdue.

Other midwestern highlights will find Indiana at Nebraska, College of Pacific at Northwestern, Duke at Pittsburgh, Southern Methodist at Missouri, Oklahoma at Iowa State, Cincinnati at Michigan State, Arizona at Marquette and Kansas at Tulsa.

Tennessee, which knocked Alabama from the ranks of the all-victorious, 12-0, will risk its perfect record in a try for a fifth triumph at Wake Forest and Georgia, which kept its record clean by romping over Oklahoma A. and M., 33-13, will be at Furman.

The Southeastern Conference slate sends Kentucky to Alabama, Auburn to Georgia Tech, Louisiana State to Vanderbilt and Mississippi State to Tulane. Other top-notch contests will find Florida at North Carolina, Richmond at Washington and Lee, William and Mary at V.M.I. and Arkansas at Mississippi.

Texas A. and M. will be at Baylor in the Southwest Conference, and Denver, which dropped Utah from the unbeaten ranks, will be at Texas Tech.

U.C.L.A., which struggled past California 13-6 to hang on to its clean record and its lead in the Pacific Coast Conference, steps out of league play to take on Santa Clara on the west coast.

Southern California, 28-0 winner over Washington, goes to Stanford, which beat Santa Clara 35-26. California invades Washington, and Oregon held to a scoreless tie by Washington State, goes to Idaho in conference play.

New Mexico will be at Colorado and Wyoming at Utah in the Rocky Mountain sector.

Wiltwyck Will Meet

The adjourned annual meeting of the stockholders of Wiltwyck Golf Club, Inc., will be held this evening at 8 o'clock in the Superimposed room at the court house, at which time five directors will be elected for the coming year and other important business brought before the meeting. The club has enjoyed the most successful season in years and the officials hope a large number will turn out this evening to hear reports and elect directors. Ray LeFevre is president of the club with H. E. Thomas, vice president; Dwight McIntee, treasurer; and Stanley Winne, secretary.

Mohawk College Opens

Utica, N. Y., Oct. 21 (AP)—Mohawk College, one of New York state's three emergency institutions of higher learning for veterans opens today with an enrollment of 1,296. Appointment of Ralph G. Rishel of Northumberland, Pa., as resident assistant director of admissions was announced yesterday.

Scarce Minerals Found

Rosendorf C. Burgess, American mineralogist who has studied deposits in Guatemala, believes that country may produce some minerals which are becoming exhausted in the United States. Lead, zinc and copper can be developed, and iron and petroleum may be found. Guatemala City reports. Other possibilities are lime, feldspar and silica for pottery, and silica, limestone and feldspar for glass.

Burkemen Display Improved Spirit In Defeating Port

Bellini and Blume Score Touchdowns; Newburgh Upsets Middletown in Loop Game, 33 to 21

Stock in Kingston High School's football team took a decided jump over the week-end when Coach Willard Burke's Maroon and White eleven scored a convincing 12 to 0 victory over Port Jervis at Glennette Field Saturday afternoon. The win was Kingston's second of the year and its first DUSO League conquest.

Newburgh Trips Middletown

As an answer to Coach Burke's recent prediction that Newburgh was the team to beat for league honors this year, the Goldbacks scored a thrilling 33 to 21 triumph over the previously unbeaten Middletown eleven Saturday to take undisputed possession of first place in the DUSO League. Newburgh and Kingston will collide at municipal stadium Friday night in the big game of the year.

Branding a fairly good running attack with a near perfect passing offensive the Burkemen hit the pay dirt first in the second period when Captain Ann Bellini bucked over tackle from the three yard line to climax a 29-yard drive. Dick DeKay's try for the extra point was low.

The Maroons, while outplaying Port completely during the last half, struck again midway in the third canto when Dee Titus flipped a neat pass out to the right to little Bill Blume who juggled the oval on the five but held on and sprinted over the chalklines for the score. DeKay's dropkick was wide.

During the first half Port whipped together all of its five first downs and was held in check without a single one in the last two periods.

Team Shows Spirit

It was a different team in spirit which represented Kingston on the gridiron Saturday. A backfield comprising Captain Bellini, Buddy Jones, Bill Blume, Dee Titus and Bill Kitsos hammered away at Port's forward wall in spirited style while the Maroon forward line cracked open numerous Port offensive thrusts.

Port's biggest threat to score came in the waning minutes of the first half when it got to within 20 yards of Kingston's goal line through a series of snappy reverses with Ray Nicolette carrying the ball. Nicolette enjoyed good gains throughout the first two sessions but was stopped cold in the second half.

Maroon Seconds Play

With about three minutes left in the game Coach Burke substituted his entire first team with a whole new lineup including Bob Gheare and Joe Albany ends; while Harry Barnhart, Chris Lay, Long, Relyea and Laidlaw filled out the rest of the line with George Flemings, acting captain; Joe Gardski, Dick DeKay and "Whip" Conlon in the secondary. Tommy McGrath, Esposito and Novichuk were other substitutions, one play later. Although the reserves failed to make any yardage on the offense, they gave a good account of themselves by pushing Port back on two plays.

Press Box Jottings

Kingston's win over Port by 12-0 is doubly important when remembering that Newburgh's conquest over the Tri-Staters was only 7 to 0. Friday's DUSO League contest at the stadium promises a lot of action and Kingston can really get back into the limelight with a win over the Hilly City club. Coach Bill Burke gave his varsity a full time assignment Saturday with the exception of the last three minutes when only Lou Fuoco and Bill Blume were used as reserves in the line. Jones kept shifting around but all the others playing around but all of them playing exactly 37 minutes. Kingston was robbed of one other touchdown early in the first period when Ed Weaver, playing at tackle, rushed in to block Goodfellow's punt on the 15. Ed retrieved the pike but Referee Shost ruled that knee had touched ground when he picked up the elusive ball. The play took place right in front of this writer and it can be said that part of Weaver's body (except his foot, of course), ever touched the ground. That was just one of the many loopholes in the game. Shost at arbitrating the game was just the beginning of his first defensive play. The erstwhile was in a number of plays and tossed Port's backfield runners in numerous losses. The Maroons proved game Saturday. Kingston's passing attack which has been quite nil to date was improved with Dee Titus heading Mike Rianzo, Ed McCordie and Bill Blume. Blume was one of the main stars in that victory. The pint-sized ball carrier showed lots of spirit with his fine running and cheerleaders were again on hand for the game and as always handled things in exceptional style. Our hats are off to all of them for their spirited performances. Principal Clarence Duran, Superintendent Arthur Laidlaw and several other faculty members were in the stands for the game. Port had four teams in form. Perhaps that's Coach Al Chase's trouble in finding a winning team. It was Port's fourth straight setback of the year.

The World Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

It's pretty strong mustard from the Moscow Pravda (official communist party publication) which we had with our breakfast this morning—I mean the accusation that American and Turkish diplomats have been participating in a "crooked secret deal" on the future of the Dardanelles.

Still, this pungent Russian comment tends to emphasize the point of the prediction in our paper last Saturday that the big game was approaching a showdown over the serious differences between the Soviet Union and the western allies. Control of the Dardanelles—as I pointed out—is one of the issues which will help clear up the mystery of how much further Moscow aims to expand its sphere of dominance.

The Pravda article of course also refers to the fact that Turkey has rejected the Russian demand for a share in the defense of the straits, and that Washington recently advised the Soviet Union that Uncle Sam didn't intend to be squeezed out of having voice in the Dardanelles. Britain has made similar representations. The Pravda piece was by commentator David Zaslavsky. His article was headed "Turkish pie with Anglo-American filling," and he asserted that the Ankara note was of Anglo-American origin. He said the communication appeared to be a translation of the American language into Turkish and added:

"It is important only that this translation expressed all the delicacies of one should more truly say—all the coarseness of American speech."

The commentator also propounded this question: "After all, where is Turkey and where are the straits located? We have heard of dollar diplomacy and about diplomacy of the dollar. Maybe the geography of the dollar is beginning to appear with a new division of the continent."

Won't Be Pushed Around

Well, the question of whether Uncle Sam has been up to dirty work at the Balkan cross-roads will have to be left to him to answer in his own course language—the uncouth old scoundrel. One can only observe that he has made it amply clear recently that he doesn't intend to be pushed about. However, we do have from Washington a highly interesting report bearing on America's attitude towards Europe. Officials who are in a position to know, say that Secretary of State Byrnes is rapidly lining up an American economic policy to fit in with "a patient but firm" U. S. attitude towards Russia and her Slav neighbors.

The secretary is said to be forming a proposal to pour several hundred million dollars into Italy, Austria and Greece while chalking off American financial help to eastern European nations. The informants in the capital say the American delegation to the recent Paris Peace Conference decided that the best policy would be to give all possible help to nations friendly to the United States but refuse aid to those who are unfriendly.

The argument over the Dardanelles will provide an illuminating test case. Granting Russia joint military defense of this strategic passage would be tantamount to handing her complete control. The Soviet Union of course has a tremendous interest in these straits which give her access from the Black Sea to the Mediterranean. But the Dardanelles cuts through the land bridge from Europe into the Middle East and the waterway therefore is of prime importance to other western nations.

Britain and the United States concede Russia's rights to full use of the Dardanelles. The only point at issue is the refusal to give Moscow military domination of the straits.

ful of earth to start construction of the Ontario section of the State Thruway at Victor, near Rochester, early Friday afternoon, after which he will motor to Lockport for a reception planned by the Niagara county Republican committee.

The night will be spent in Buffalo, where at noon Saturday the governor will attend a luncheon arranged by Trade Union officials and educators in honor of Irving H. Ives, G.O.P. senatorial candidate and dean of the State School of Industrial and Labor Relations at Cornell University.

In the evening Dewey will attend a reception given by Edwin F. Jaekle, Erie county Republican chairman; a Navy League dinner and an Erie county Republican committee rally. He will return to Albany Sunday.

Speaks in New York

In New York city yesterday, Dewey said that "a large share of the policies which are urged upon government are for special interests or pressure groups, and most of them are based on slogans which have no relationship to economics or the interests of the people as a whole."

He shared the platform of the 1946 season for the Ulster-Greene County Vacationland will be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel this evening when Ulster and Greene county editors of newspapers will be the guests of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp.

Dinner will be served at 7 o'clock, followed by the discussion meeting.

Boys Cut Cable

Sunday afternoon some boys climbed to the roof of the grandstand in the municipal stadium and cut the cable of the loud speaker system. It was reported to the police department by David Freer. Mr. Freer said the cable was cut on top of the press box.

At a Republican rally in Troy Saturday night, Dewey said "a strange assortment of splinter parties make up our opposition."

"They run on three different platforms," he added, "with the support of five so-called parties—what is left of the Democratic party, the dubiously entitled Liberal party, the P.A.C., the Communist party and its fellow travelers of the A.L.P."

The governor asserted the Democratic party was the "captivity" of the "splinter parties."

The Democratic ticket, headed by Mead, also is the slate of the American Labor and Liberal parties.

Apple Week Proclaimed

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 21 (AP)—Governor Dewey today proclaimed the week of October 25 Apple Week and urged that special attention be given to promoting the "widest interest" in use of the state's apple crop. Dewey noted that a crop of more than fourteen million bushels is being harvested.

California has 76 junior colleges, more than any other state.

VETERANS PRESENT PETITION TO DEWEY

William Rubens of New York presents a petition outlining a 12-point program of veterans on housing to New York Governor Thomas E. Dewey at Albany. The petition was presented after Dewey agreed to meet a group of veterans who had taken possession of the Senate chambers in an effort to force the governor to call a special session of the state legislature to consider housing. The veterans called off their seizure of the senate chamber after the meeting with Dewey.

VETS SLEEP IN SENATE CHAMBER

Four veterans, part of a delegation which took possession of the New York State Senate Chamber at Albany, catch "forty winks" during the early morning hours, in the red-leather seats occupied during sessions of the state legislature by members of the state senate. Protesting against housing conditions, the veterans abandoned plans to sit it out until Gov. Thomas E. Dewey acts on their demands for a special session of the legislature to act on housing.

Editors to Be Guests At Dinner Tonight

A round-table discussion of the results accomplished during the 1946 season for the Ulster-Greene County Vacationland will be held at the Governor Clinton Hotel this evening when Ulster and Greene county editors of newspapers will be the guests of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp.

The fourth annual show of the Kingston Model Railroad Club opened Sunday at the clubhouse, 541 Broadway, and more than 100 people viewed the miniature railroad in operation.

Trains operated continuously over the four-track mainline and the mountain division, and visitors were given the opportunity to see a railroad system in action without moving from the room.

The show will continue throughout the week, beginning at 7:30 p. m. and closing at 10 p. m., and will also be presented on Sunday, October 27, from 2:30 to 10 p. m.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 21 (AP)—Scattered stocks crawled upward in today's market although many leaders continued to seek lower territory.

From the start dealings were among the slowest of the past month. Variations either way generally were in small fractions. The direction remained indefinite near the fourth hour.

Commission houses found their customers inclined to step carefully because of apprehension over widely fluctuating commodities and the possibility the downturn in shares had yet to be completed.

A number of pleasing dividends and earnings statements, on the whole, met with scant response. Timid bidding was ascribed to the hope that any good news might bring a substantial technical rebound.

In the waving division were U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Goodyear, Sears, Roebuck, Transcontinental & Western Air (in the wake of a strike of pilots), National American Smelting, Allied Chemical, Great Northern, and Southern Railway.

Resistance was shown by Sharon Steel, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Douglas Aircraft, du Pont, Union Carbide, Texas Co., International Harvester, Union Pacific and Santa Fe.

Cotton futures steadied after an early drop of $10 a bale and grains did better. Bonds were mixed.

Plotke Installs Officers, Gives Talk on Synagogue

Impressive installation exercises for the new officers of 1946-47 were attended at Ahavath Israel Synagogue Saturday night by a capacity audience which heard Dr. Frank D. Plotke, rabbi of the congregation, outline the importance of the synagogue in this age.

He told his audience that its "specific and unique task today is to redirect the centrifugal forces in Jewish life by emphasizing the centrality of the synagogue." He pointed out that "all great movements in contemporary Judaism had their origin in the synagogue and that by destroying the source from which noble thoughts and inspiration have emanated for thousands of years we are in danger of losing our sense of direction and purpose."

After discharging the outgoing officers, headed by George Kramer, for their devotion to the synagogue, he installed the new officers stressing again the specific task ahead of them as leaders of a religious institution.

The new administration consists of Herman G. Rafalowsky, president; Louis Kantrowitz, vice-president; Meyer Levy, treasurer; Sam D. Wilson, financial secretary; Ben Schechter, recording secretary; Mr. Rafalowsky and his associates thanked the congregation for the confidence evidenced by their fellow-members and invited their cooperation.

Hugo Wessler, chairman of the current United Jewish Appeal, concluded the meeting with a personal appeal to the generosity of the congregational members and to emphasize the importance of the campaign, read excerpts from letters received by the U.J.A. headquarters in New York. Refreshments were served in the vestry hall under the guidance of Nathan Badian.

Pilot Strike Halts TWA Flights in U.S., to Europe

Washington, Oct. 21 (AP)—A strike by pilots—first of its kind in commercial aviation—halted all flights today by Trans World Airlines planes in the United States and across the Atlantic.

The surprise walkout grew out of a months-long dispute over higher wages for the company's 1,400 pilots and co-pilots. Estimates of current earnings varied. Strike leaders calculated pay at $7,600 to $9,100 yearly whereas the airlines negotiating committee said it ranged up to $12,558 annually under a complicated formula.

Shortly after the strike began at 4:59 a. m. (E.S.T.), the company cancelled more than 90 scheduled flights for a 24-hour period and announced the cancellation will be extended each day unless the strike ends.

The company estimated that 3,000 passengers booked on grounded planes or shunted to trains and other airlines. Approximately 25 tons of mail likewise was shifted to other transportation.

Only Airline Hit
T.W.A., the nation's fourth largest carrier, was the only airline hit by the strike which David L. Behneke, head of the A.F.L. Airline Pilots Association, described as a "last recourse" in the prolonged wage dispute.

Picket lines appeared at the company's shops and administration buildings in Kansas City but there was no similar action in other cities.

Molotov Says Russia to Back General Assembly

before the giant liner docked. His statement in full follows:

"Having arrived in New York to take part in the work of the General Assembly and the Council of Foreign Ministers, I should like to avail myself of the opportunity in order to convey on behalf of the government and the people of the Soviet Union greetings to the government and people of the United States.

"I am sure that important tasks now before the United Nations can be successfully solved and that any difficulties can be overcome by good will and the realization to achieve mutual understanding. The delegation of the Soviet Union will contribute to the work of the United Nations General Assembly and Council of Foreign Ministers in successful in accomplishing the interests of strengthening peace and the well being of peoples, great and small. Permit me to thank the representatives of U. S. authorities present here for the warm reception extended me and my colleagues."

Senator Tom Connally of Texas, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, returning from the Paris peace conference, told reporters:

"I deplore the talk of another war. Russia doesn't want another war; Stalin and Molotov do not want another war."

"The Paris peace conference accomplished substantial results. We did not secure all that we desired, and Russia did not get all that it was looking for."

"On the whole, the conference was a success. It tears the curtain from secret diplomacy—it lets the people of the world know what is going on."

Connally was accompanied by Mrs. Connally.

High School Boys May Go to Europe With Heifer Cargo

A number of Kingston High School students have written to the United Brethren, Windsor, Md., who are sponsoring the project to send high bred heifers to devastated countries overseas, seeking appointments as caretakers of the animals for the overseas voyage and until they reach their destination. One person can care for about 20 heifers.

At least two of the boys, Charles Relyea, Jr., of Hurley, and Lawrence Decker of Port Ewen, have received application forms to be filled out. Age limits for caretakers have been placed at between 18 and 50 years of age, except that boys under 18 may be selected providing no other consent of their parents is obtained.

Rephah Klein, head of the agriculture department at the high school, said that the trip would take about six weeks. Expenses would be paid on the trip and at the completion of the work each caretaker would receive $150, he said. Mr. Klein did not know how many, if any, caretakers would be selected from this area.

It is hoped to secure at least 350 heifers in New York state to be shipped overseas by the end of this month. Mr. Klein understood that the first shipments would be to Italy, Poland and Czechoslovakia, with further shipments later to other countries whose fine herds have been depleted.

Actively backing the move to assist the people overseas in rebuilding their herds are the State College of Agriculture, the Dairyman's League and the Federal Council of Churches.

Efforts Appear Good

Washington, Oct. 21 (AP)—P. A. S. efforts to hold the line on auto prices appear fairly good, a top official said today as the government's decontrol speedup seemed likely to sweep ceilings off bread and flour. Breakfast cereals as well as all bakery products would be affected by the bread and flour decision, which an agriculture department spokesman described as imminent.

Hudson Hotel Bought By New York Syndicate

The General Worth Hotel in Hudson passed into new ownership and management Saturday, when title to the century-old hotel passed from Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Thomas of Catskill, to a corporation, Hotel General Worth, Inc., formed by interests in New York city, which purchased the property.

The hotel is to be operated by a syndicate headed by Henry M. Margolis of New York city, who served in the Marines in World War 2, and who has extensive hotel interests in New York state and Massachusetts. Among the

Moscow Radio Deals With Elections in U. S.

London, Oct. 21 (AP)—The Moscow radio said today that the U. S. election campaign was a struggle between "reaction" and the "progressive forces of the country" in the vanguard of which it placed the C.I.O. Political Action Committee.

"It is not accidental that the C.I.O. Political Action Committee supports progressive candidates in the elections, whatever their party affiliations, and opposes reactionary candidates, Republican or Democratic," the commentator, A. Ossipov, said.

He added that there was a grain of "truth" in the belief of Republicans that the Democrats had lost prestige because of "reactionary policies" since Roosevelt's death.

Ossipov said Republican domination of Congress would be a "national disaster," but he could not agree with the contention that a two-party system was now "largely fiction."

The commentator declared that the coalition of "reactionary Democrats and Republicans" in the present Congress had blocked important reforms internally and also "at times tacitly and at times very eloquently strengthened the expansion of the dollar or an atomic foreign policy," which Ossipov added was very dangerous to America and to the cause of peace.

Windshield Is Broken

That's why your Shell Dealer inspects them when he gives your car a Shell lubrication job. He checks your steering assembly, wheel bearings, brake system, radiator, lights, battery and windshield wipers. What's more, he lists items requiring attention.

He also performs two other vital services:—

1. He drains, flushes, then refills your crankcase with the correct winter grade of Shell X-100 Motor Oil.

Proclamation

Mayor W. F. Edelmuth today issued a proclamation in behalf of the United Jewish Appeal. The proclamation follows:

PROCLAMATION
Whereas, We, in the United States are faced with the responsibility of extending a helping hand to a devastated world, especially to the displaced peoples of Central Europe. For those who have a homeland, the problem is comparatively simple. But for those who were the first victims of Nazi "processing", the Jewish people, who as yet have no real homeland, the situation is desperate, and

For that reason, the United Jewish Appeal has set itself a goal of raising $100,000,000 to rescue and rehabilitate the 1,400,000 Jews left of the 7,000,000 in Europe at the beginning of the Nazi regime, and

Whereas, A year has passed since liberation, the first and most cruelly affected victims of Nazism are still in need and want. It is our hope that the citizens of our community will come to the rescue of these helpless citizens of the world.

Now, therefore, I, William F. Edelmuth, Mayor of the City of Kingston, do hereby call upon each and every citizen to be as generous in their support of the most worthy cause as their means will permit.

Mayor.
